Re: E. Jackson Baur Student Award for Research and Study of Social Conflict and Conflict Resolution

Please announce that monetary awards are available to students interested in the study of social conflict and its resolution. These awards are used to support research, professional travel, or manuscript preparation as well as to recognize scholarly accomplishments. Undergraduate as well as graduate students are eligible.

These awards are made from a fund honoring the memory of Professor Emeritus E. Jackson Baur, Department of Sociology. Recipients must have a strong interest in conflict and its resolution, as demonstrated through research and scholarship. This may also include social action, but only if it is guided by knowledge of the nature of social conflict and the methods for its regulation, rather than being motivated primarily by ideological convictions.

Applications are due Friday, March 28, 2014, and should be sent to the E. Jackson Baur Award Committee, Department of Sociology. To apply, students should complete an application form (attached), transcripts or Degree Progress Report (DPR) & Advising Report, and submit it with a letter (2-page maximum, double-spaced, 12-point font, 1-inch margins) describing their qualifications and accomplishments and the use to be made of the monetary award. In addition, two letters of support from faculty must be sent separately.

I would greatly appreciate your posting or forwarding this announcement and the application form. Thank you for your assistance.
